Matilda Ntsetse Mpai

Founder, CEO, Divine Morula (Pty)Ltd

Botswana

Born on December 20th 1965 in Botswana, Matilda was raised by a South African mother and gifted cultural roots compared to her peers, which allowed her to bloom quite uniquely. She's a mother of two amazing daughters, both in their 20s, who have honored and embodied her best qualities. Trained as a Home Economics teacher, she became passionate about healthy eating that does not compromise all the good food we desire. At heart, she is a creative being who has a gift of working with her hands. Her journey with business started with a knitwear company, and now she owns a food processing company that specializes in popularizing indigenous wild fruit flavours. Matilda is the founder and CEO of Divine Morula (Pty) Ltd.

Divine Morula (Pty)Ltd

With the help of communities where Morula grows, the company collects, processes and stockpiles morula pulp for the production of various pure Morula products that are developed from scratch. Divine Morula has a body range which includes morula oil, lip balm, hand and body lotion, a body butter and a moisturizing beard and hair cream for 4C hair. Divine Morula's food range includes morula juice, mmilo juice (wild medlar), morula jam, atchar, concentrates and lerotse jam (an indigenous non-sweet orange melon). The company supplies hotels and other manufacturers with morula flavour for their products and cuisine. Some of the products are now in major retail stores.
